Then you can find instructions that detail everything you need to do to activate it. When the first time in Undead Settlement, you will find a NPC called Yoel of Londor. Make sure to defeat the Pontäfice Sullyvahh as long as you are in the area. Killing her will make the alternative version of the end.Fin 3: Lord of Hollows/ord of Hollows is undoubtedly one of the best finals you can get at Dark Souls III. Not interact with the bonfire that appears. Then you can find instructions on how to get it. First, you need to defeat the king consumed. Go back where you fought against the Boreal Valley dancer and place the small basin that fell after the deferata in the statue of the room. Tell him you have not seen it. Otherwise, you can return to the biggest secrets that are worth finding in Dark Souls III.Fin 1: Linking the first flameEnlace The first flame is the easier end of obtaining in Dark Souls III. To get this end, it simply reaches the final boss - the soul of ash. Instead, look to the left to find a sign of invocation for the firefighter. You will find Anri here and ask you if you have seen Horace. This triggers a ladder to go down: Climb and take the road to the left to find the king consumed. Once you've taken care of the consumed king, he's still down the hall that was opened until he reached a dead end alley. The background music will change. Learn at the end of the game and defeat the soul of cinder. Eventually you will meet a pilgrim to the left of an arc. A new NPC called Yuria de London will appear instead in the sanctuary. Talk to Yuria and then travel to the path of the sacrifices where you can meet Anri and Horace. Be careful; There are important spoilers below. Like previous games in the Souls franchise, Dark Souls III has multiple endings to unlock. Accept this offer to get a "free" skill point, but it is important to note that doing so makes you Hollow. Hit the wall to discover a secret passageway leading to the Unintended Tombs.Walk through this dungeon to discover Champion Gandyr. After the initial final scene, you have a small opening to attack the Fireman as the fire fades in his hands. Below, you can find instructions detailing what you need to do to activate each end of the game. The next time you return to the Firelink Sanctuary, you will find it in the lower tunnel to the right of the main entrance.When you talk to Yoel at the Firelink Sanctuary, Yoel will offer to "unlock your true power" by marking you with a Dark Sigil article. Approach the bonfire near the edge of the area to get the end of the Lord of the Hollows. However, the ways to get these ends require you to follow a specific set of steps. Kill him with reckless abandonment.Go back to Firelink Sanctuary and talk to Yuria. She will tell you that the preparations for your "girlfriend" are almost complete.Return to the Boreal Valley, and at the top, near the lever that takes you to Anor Londo, you will find a room with a statue of a king.Pass through the King's statue to discover a secret passageway that leads to the Tomb of the Dark Moon. Summon it to activate the final scene.End 2: Usurping Fire ä Alternative VersionIt is possible to activate an alternative version of the end Usurping Fire. It also requires more work to get than the above terminations. Talk to Yoel and accept his offer to help you.
